Hello...

Mission Statement and Strategy

Production

State-of-the-art facilities & production process

Dali is committed to continuous modernization of manufacturing standards at all production facilities. This is complemented by:

The highest qualifications and professional training for employees.

A constant quest in the Production Department to advance the production techniques and methods

A close co-operation with the leading machine manufacture to improve the current facilities

Raw Materials

Select the very best materials

To achieve the aim of producing elastic bands at excellent quality, Dali uses only the high-quality raw materials that are environmental-friendly and have no harm to human health (certified by OEKO-TEX Standard 100).

Raw materials suppliers are selected critically among hundreds of factories worldwide.

Mainly, we source most of artificial fibers such as polyester, nylon and spandex locally in China.

Raw Materials

Furthermore, in order to fulfill the diverse customers' demands, some raw materials are bought from Israel, Taiwan, Thailand, and Malaysia; for instance, rubber latex thread and nylon.

We are committed to build long-term relationship with selected suppliers.

Investment in sustainable business

Our dyeing department is equipped with state-of-the-art yarn/elastic dyeing machines and related facilities such as twisting machines and winding machines.

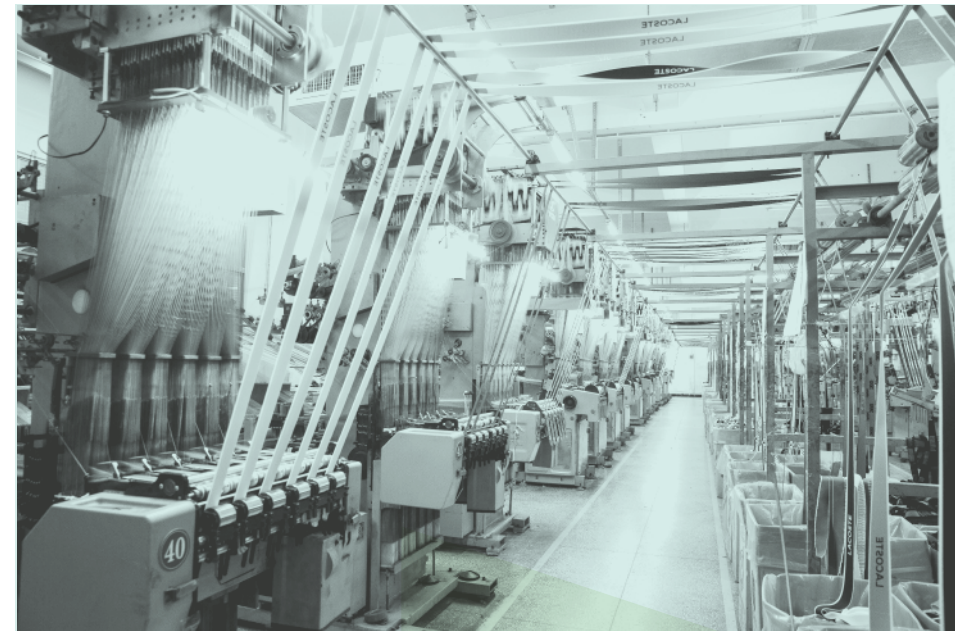

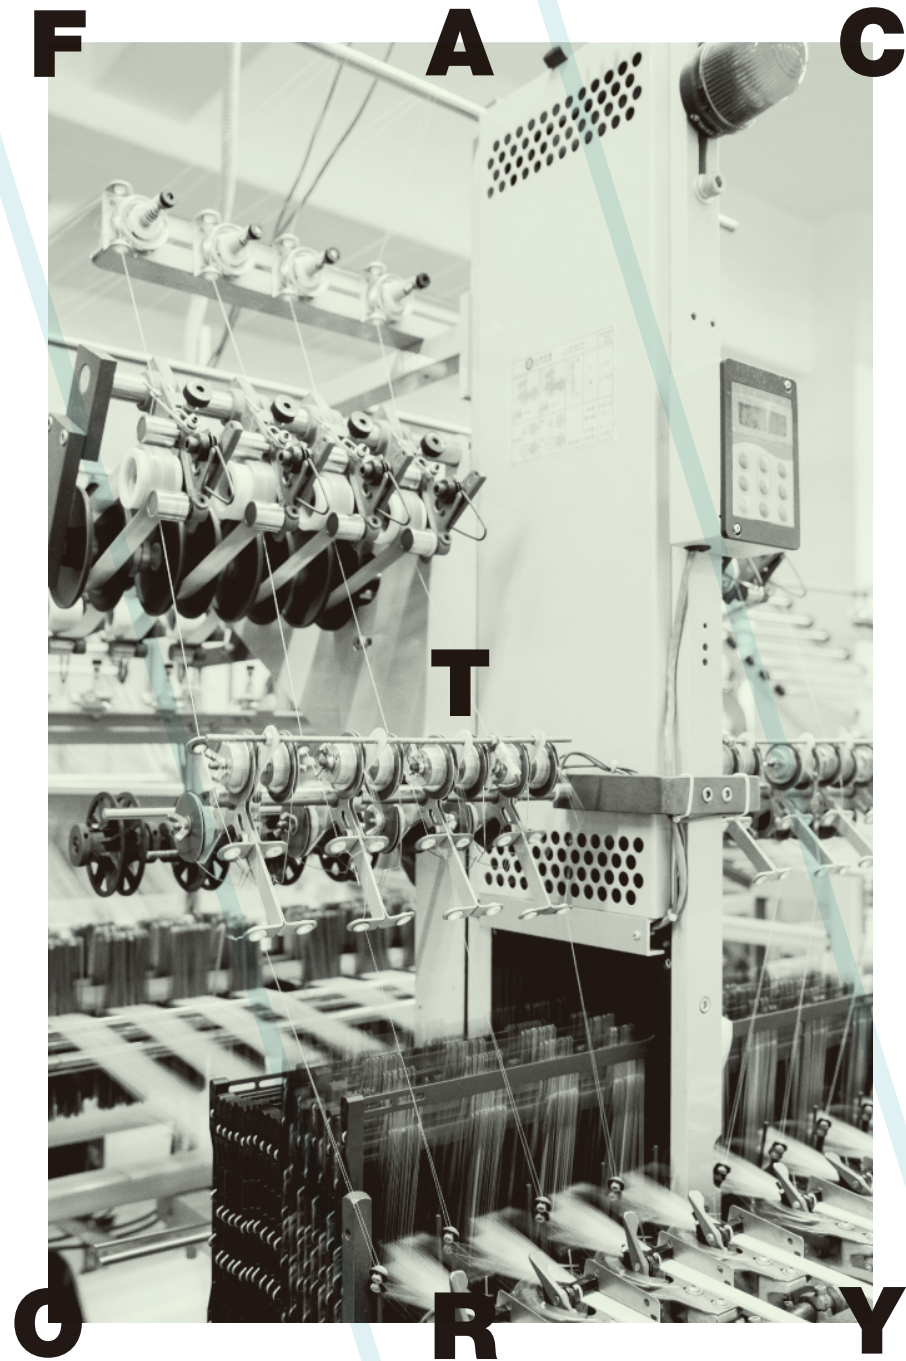

To meet the industry's highest standards, we ensure the correct criteria for color stability, color fastness and the use of non-toxic additives.

Dali uses ecological dyestuff and auxiliaries in the dyeing of yarn and elastic. We strictly follow the national policies that ban the use of hazardous chemicals in the dyeing process.

Besides, we ongoing strive for the reduction of pollution produced by the factory.

Dali conforms to the national environmental rule and the discharged water is strictly in compliance with emission standard.

Advanced weaving techniques

The elastic weaving unit of Dali covers 5000m² and includes more than 140 machines that consist of jacquard weaving machines and crochet knitting machines,

The production lines are equipped with local and international advanced equipment which can satisfy the demand of small-volume, large-variety production.

At the same time, our most advanced equipment imported from Italy and Switzerland are responsible for the key production procedure.

Research & Development

Research & Development

Innovation driven by Dali

Over the past decades, Dali has been committed to research, develop and launch new products. A Central Research and Development Department has been established to ensure full customer service worldwide.

Our Laboratory Center is equipped with modernized equipment, whilst liaising with independent test laboratories and ecological institutes to ensure the required certification is obtained.

With our market-oriented R&D division, we have launched new styles products every year. As a result, we successfully enrich the choice for the textile industries and inspire design ideas.

Conscientious quality management

To ensure quality, Dali pledges to eliminate any errors or defects in each stage of our production process.

We have put great emphasis on quality management and strict implementation of international standards. The guaranteed quality and safety of our products put us in a leading position in the industry.

We have obtained the ISO9001:2000, International Quality Management System Certification, ISO 14001:2004 Environmental Management System certification, evident that our products meet international environmental protection standard.

We have also obtained Oeko-Tex Standard 100 Ecological Textile Goods Certification of TESTEX®.

To guarantee the quality of our products, we closely supervise the entire production process. Our quality assurance team enforces quality management system which assures product safety for all stages of the products' life cycle.

With our supreme and stable quality, we have won customers' recognition and trust.

Your reliable partner

Given our professional experience of development and manufacturing of elastic bands, Dali can offer customer expert advice on the choice of ideal raw materials, weaving technology and products.

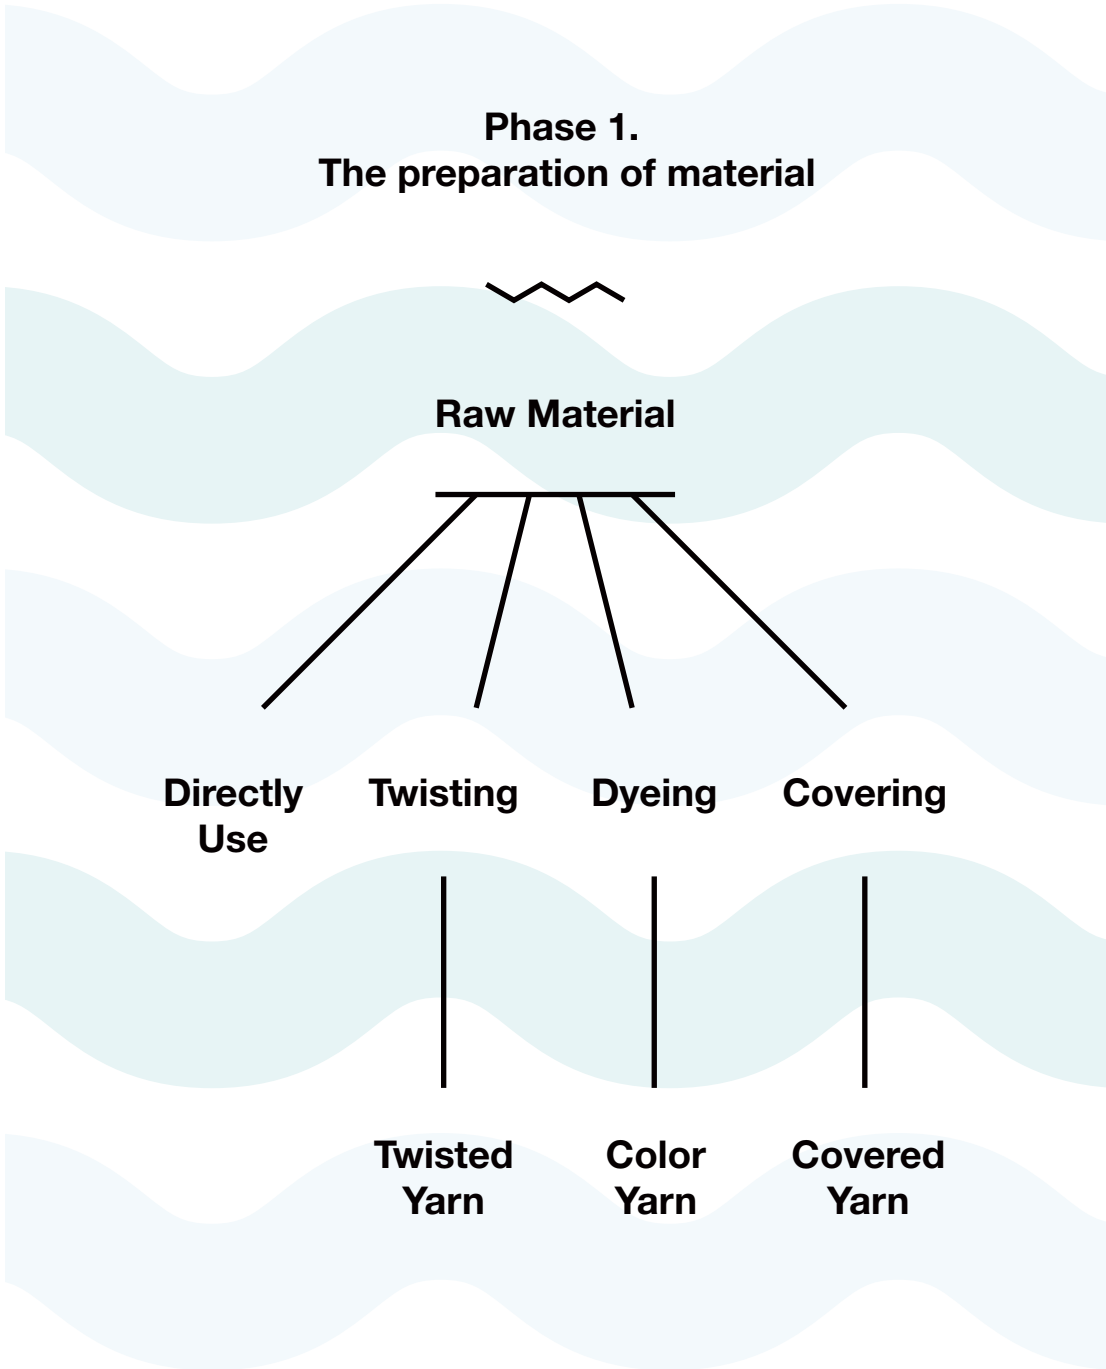

Under the pledge of "Customers First" , we always provide technical and commercial support to our customer locally and worldwide.

To fulfill various demands of our customers, and serve them even better, we set up a special product line for small-batch and customized production.

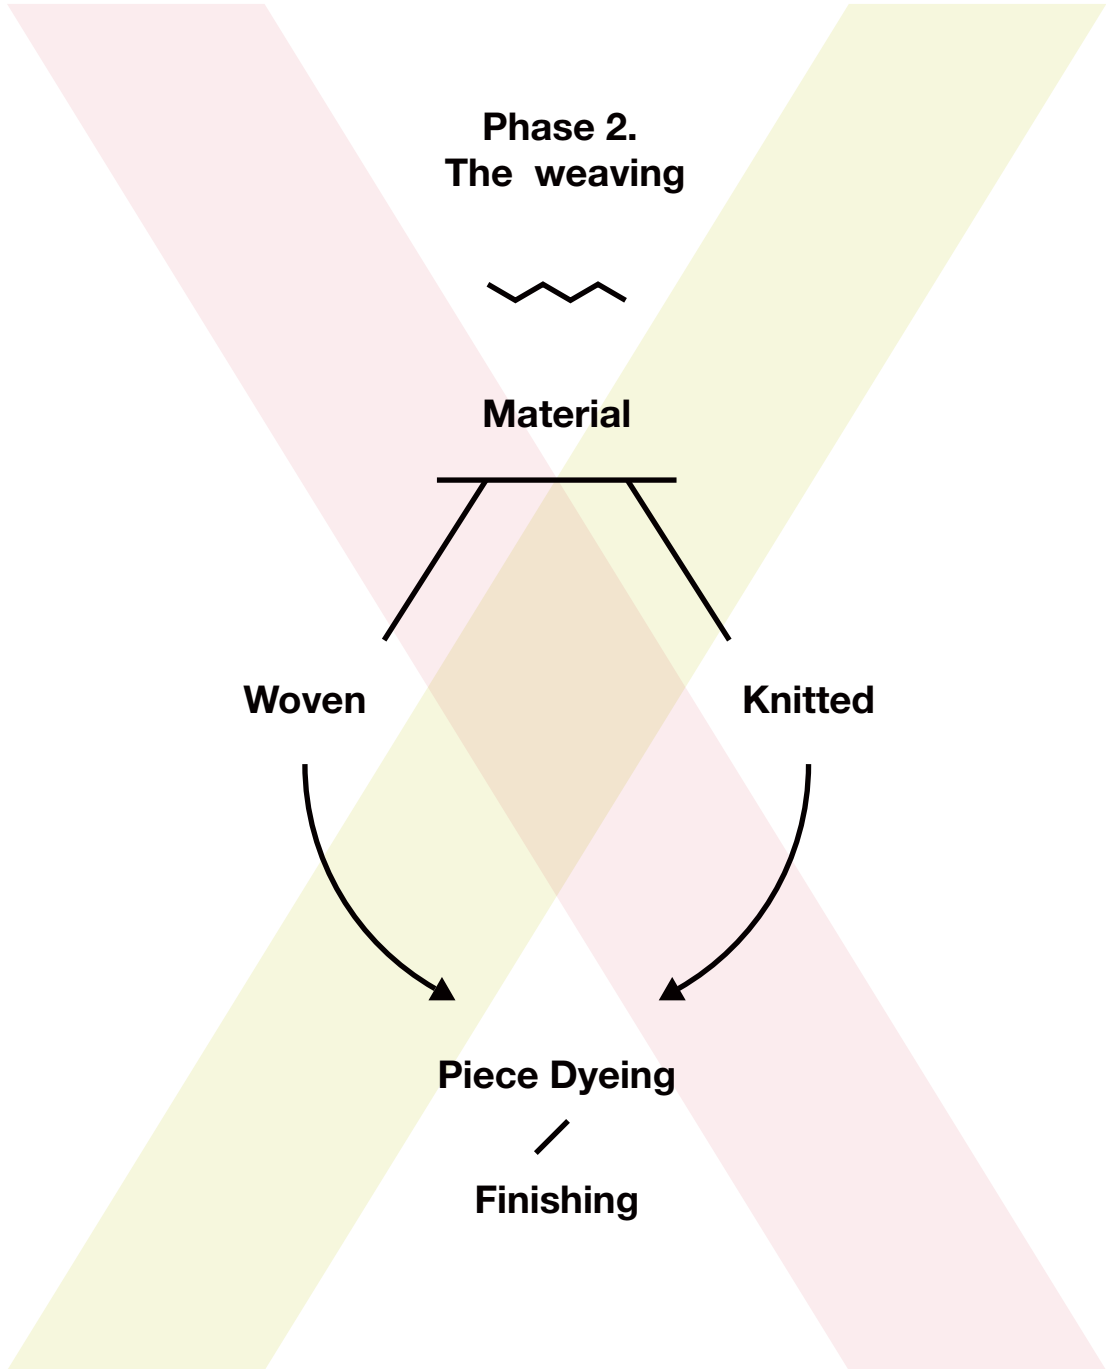

To best serve the purpose of product development and mass production, we have established a well equipped platform for chemical & technical experiments.
